Building Global Connections with the American Bakers Association

Bakers outside of the United States expand their world with ABA's International Baker Membership.

With Members on six continents, ABA is a U.S.-based trade association with an international reach. Additionally, ABA is the co-owner of the Western Hemisphere's largest international wholesale baking industry trade show: the International Baking Industry Exposition (IBIE).

As the world of business continues to globalize, it's important to be a Member of the organization that helps connect the entire industry.

ONLINE EDUCATION IN ENGLISH, SPANISH, AND PORTUGUESE

ABA's Bakers Manufacturing Academy offers International Members on-demand, online access to the industry's most modern and comprehensive workforce training programs.

From beginner to advanced production roles, the Academy's training is available in English, with certain courses offered in Spanish and Portuguese.

NETWORKING WITH INDUSTRY CONNECTIONS

Get to know the global baking industry community.

ABA provides our International Members with networking opportunities to meet and learn from industry peers and suppliers. In addition to in-person events, rapid adoption of new technologies have allowed ABA events to have an increased emphasis on virtual offerings to accommodate participation from Members all over the globe.

BEST PRACTICES WITH ABA WEBINARS

Live or on-demand, ABA webinars virtually gather the experts leading change in the industry.

Dynamic topics are based on the current day challenges of ABA Members and are available at any time on ABA's On-Demand Webinar Portal. Presentations throughout the year focus on industry research, consumer trends, food science, equipment innovations and more.

INTERNATIONAL BAKER MEMBER DISCOUNT

Because International Baker Members cannot participate in ABA's advocacy activities, we offer a 50% discount off of our standard Member rates. Please contact our Membership team at membership@americanbakers.org to learn more about how an ABA International Baker Membership can benefit your company.
